These documentaries are 4REAL

It's a locally produced documentary series that takes celebrities on adventures to various places in the world to connect with young leaders making a difference in their communities and beyond.

The show, which airs in more than 160 countries and is hosted by Sol Guy, is called 4REAL, and now Vancouver students will be able to learn about issues like poverty, human rights and the environment through 4REAL School, a set of teaching guides and DVDs based around each episode of the series.

The Vancouver School Board hosts the launch of the implementation of 4REAL School on Friday morning at Britannia high school.

READY TO JOIN THE NEW BREED?

Last year, we were on the hunt for a few good minds for a new kind of MBA. We wanted 40 outstanding students with degrees unrelated to Business, and with five years or less work experience. We promised a rigorous academic curriculum, an extensive Career Management Program, a paid internship and a quick return to the workplace. Setting competitive tuition rates, we offered a unique MBA at a rare value.

We received over 180 applications and selected 46 students, 52% of them women. Their degrees range from sports management to math, with 40% completed outside of Canada. They have passion, commitment, social conscience, and the energy to complete an intensive 12-month program. This first-class group is outperforming our expectations—and helping us redefine how business education is delivered.
